At any one time Surtech displays equipment with a capital value in excess of £ 500 000 ranging from portable abrasive power tools to automatic grinding and polishing machines as well as a full complement of associated spares and accessories.

With such a large area available, Surtech makes every possible effort to cater for the various differences in customers' budgets and requirements, dividing areas into specific interests. There is also a dedicated section given over to used grinding, deburring and polishing machines.

section of the warehouse offers serious value for money where budget limitations may otherwise prove prohibitive.

Acutely aware also of customers' needs and purchasing criteria, Surtech has very sensibly allocated a full 2000 sq ft of the facility to a dedicated Abrasive Test Centre where over 50 machines are available for trials. Customers are actively encouraged to bring in their own parts and put the machines through their paces, thereby offering an invaluable opportunity to make purchasing decisions based on well-informed assessments of machine suitability.

Incorporating a general workshop and tool room, dedicated to abrasive machines, this unique warehouse enables Surtech to offer customers one of the most comprehensive sales and after sales services available in the UK, and all under one roof.
